As a long time Oregon and Portland area resident, I have been concerned about the many waterways we are blessed with. The Willamette river is of special concern to me. I have lived near it and crossed it multiple times a day for decades. I enjoy it's beauty and also shutter when I see people recreating in the river. I am aware of how polluted it has become. It has been used as a dumping ground and basically a sewer for much of the cities waste water.

This is not acceptable. We the people of the Northwest, the native Americans, the late arriving settlers, we all are responsible for the health of the Willamette.

As it as been designated as a superfund site, it is time to act. We need to employ at a minimum the enhanced alternative G plan for clean up. I urge that we go far beyond that and make this river safe for wildlife and all humans who enjoy life in it's path.

Please, do all that is possible to make the Willamette a sparkling example of human endeavor to give back to this planet that sustains us.
